Efficient Content Retrieval

Simplify the task of extracting information from extensive documents. Marvin's natural language-based Q&A precisely identifies document types and locates specific content within folders.

Real-time Content Insights

Summarize lengthy documents to expedite decision-making and gain insights into deeply buried information in large pool of documents.

Hyper-personalized Customer Communications

Create dynamic, tailored content for diverse audiences. Marvin can even translate your communication into multiple languages in real-time, enabling you to globalize effortlessly.

Fast is faster, and smart is smarter with Marvin. Let's see how!

NewgenONE Marvin is a perfect companion for you to extract the most out of our already powerful capabilities across NewgenONE – across process, content, and communication. What is already fast with automation, becomes even faster. And, what is already smart with intelligence, becomes even smarter.

Insurers constantly crave speed and efficiency in claims process. With NewgenONE Marvin, you can create an end-to-end workflow, including action items for the surveyor, claims officer, adjustor, and finance team. Marvin suggests relevant data models with fields such as claimant ID, insurance policy number, VIN, settlement amount, and more, helping you kickstart application development.

Marvin also helps you enhance customer experience by generating effective and personalized communication templates in multiple languages that align with your brand's identity. What's more? With Marvin, you can request summaries of extensive policy documents or specific sections with prompts like "Summarize John's policy's deductible clause" allowing for quick comprehension of critical details.

Lenders grapple with the time-consuming task of manually reviewing each loan application, validating documents, and gauging eligibility. Marvin simplifies handling of documents, allowing the categorization of income proofs, credit reports, collateral documents, and more. It provides easy content access through automated metadata tagging, fostering meaningful engagements. What's more, loan officers receive real-time updates, accessible through prompts like "the status of Mr. Williams' loan application," ensuring that both loan officers and customers remain informed at all times."

With Marvin, banks can continue to innovate with the lending process by instantly constructing comprehensive workflow as desired, in real-time. Not only that, it also offers intelligent suggestions for relevant data models, seamlessly integrating all crucial information – from applicant particulars to credit histories.
