

NDDP Mother Priyanka

“RISING BEYOND”

The phrase ‘I hope’ implies a desire to achieve something, reflecting both aspiration and determination. NDDP captures that aspiration in my life.

BACKGROUND

Priyanka, a bright and forward-thinking individual from Delhi, draws strength from her parents and three sisters. Despite facing financial challenges while growing up, Priyanka excelled academically. However, due to the financial constraints, she could not complete her 10th grade education. The family’s financial struggles also prevented her and her sisters from pursuing higher education, leading them to marry at a young age. Now, after more than a decade of marriage to Lalit, Priyanka is now a mother to a daughter in the 6th grade and a son in the 3rd grade.

LIFE CHANGING PHASES

Initially, Priyanka and her husband lived with their extended family. However, the pandemic and financial struggles led them to shift to Priyanka’s maternal home. Following the move, Priyanka joined a babysitting training course to revive her learning skills and generate income for the family.

Currently, she works as a Montessori instructor in a school in the slums, with aspirations to becoming a primary school teacher.

POSITIVE IMPACT ON PRIYANKA’S FAMILY

Priyanka explored the Newgen Digital Discovery Paathshala (NDDP) program through her daughter. The program improved her daughter’s discipline and academic performance, while providing engaging learning experiences through videos, newsreader activities, and other activities.

PRIYANKA’S RAY OF HOPE

Priyanka was introduced to NDDP’s vision for mothers during a device distribution ceremony. The program’s new initiative for the mothers of the NDDP students sparked a new ray of hope within her, inspiring her to consider resuming her education.

With the support of NDDP, Priyanka is now studying to complete her 10th grade exams. She appreciates and values the offline digital classes provided by the program, which benefit both her and her daughter immensely.
